Using Adverbs

1) Read through the text.
2) Circle each of the action verbs.
3) Rewrite the passage, adding adverbs in where you think they will improve the text.

Remember not to overuse adverbs. Every verb might not need one.

It was a chilly morning. Charlie walked home from school. When he arrived, he took off his large coat. The family dog, Pepper, was sleeping under the dinner table. Charlie's stomach rumbled and so he made his way to the kitchen. He could hear his brother whistling in the next room. Charlie grabbed two slices of bread and began to butter it.
"Get off!" Charlie cried when he noticed Pepper licking at the bench.
