

Task:

Design an Animal

That would survive in a...

Desert

Rainfall:

Deserts have little rainfall. This means not many plants and animals can survive in the desert. Desert animals are often small as small animals don't need as much water.

Climate:

Deserts are very hot during the day but often very cold at night.

Geographical Features:

Deserts are made up of mostly sand and rock.

Think:

What food or plants will your animal eat?

How will your animal survive with little water?

What features will your animal need?

Draw your animal. Label its features, explaining how they would help it survive.