

Types of Sentences

Statements give information.

They express an idea. Statements end with a full stop ●

Questions ask for information.

They are used to find out information. Questions end with a question mark. ?

Commands tell someone to do something.

They are used to give instructions. Commands end with a full stop ●

Exclamations give information (just like statements).

They express strong emotion. Exclamations end with an exclamation mark. !

Cut and paste to organise each sentence under its correct heading.

Add in the correct sentence ending punctuation.

Statements	Questions
Commands	Exclamations
I can't believe our team won the grand final	Wash the dishes carefully
How long will you be	My dog is named Lola
My favourite movie is Toy Story	Where is your bike
Pick up your shoes	Today is freezing cold
Dinner is getting cold	Cook the fish for ten minutes
What is your favourite game	That car is amazing

Types of Sentences Answers

Statements give information.

They express an idea. Statements end with a full stop ●

Questions ask for information.

They are used to find out information. Questions end with a question mark. ?

Commands tell someone to do something.

They are used to give instructions. Commands end with a full stop ●

Exclamations give information (just like statements).

They express strong emotion. Exclamations end with an exclamation mark. !

Cut and paste to organise each sentence under its correct heading.

Show whether the sentences are statements, questions, commands or exclamations.

Statements	Questions
Dinner is getting cold.	What is your favourite game?
My dog is named Lola.	How long will you be?
My favourite movie is Toy Story.	Where is your bike?
Commands	Exclamations
Pick up your shoes.	Today is freezing cold!
Cook the fish for ten minutes.	I can't believe our team won the grand final!
Wash the dishes carefully.	That car is amazing!