

Personification

... gives human characteristics to things that are not human.

Personification allows authors to bring to life things that are not human.

For example:

The sun simled down on the farmer.

