

Homophones

Homophones are words with the same pronunciation but different meanings.

FLOUR

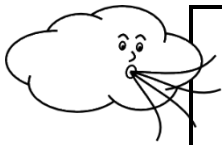

For example:

and

FLOWER

Choose the correct homophones below to complete the sentences.

blew

blue

allowed

aloud

seller

cellar

flaw

floor

banned

band

1. The strong wind _____ leaves all through the yard.
2. "You will not be _____ in if you are being too noisy," said Mum.
3. The audience waited excitedly for the _____ to appear on stage.
4. The latest book by the author was sure to be a best _____.
5. The grey clouds soon covered the _____ sky.
6. Janet was asked by her mother to sweep the _____.
7. Will walked down the stairs into the _____.
8. To help save the environment, plastic bags were _____.
9. The teacher read _____ to the class.
10. Tilly returned the skirt to the store because of a _____ in the stitching.

Homophones Answers

Homophones are words with the same pronunciation but different meanings.

FLOUR

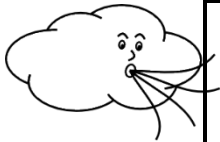

For example:

and

FLOWER

Choose the correct homophones below to complete the sentences.

blew

blue

allowed

aloud

seller

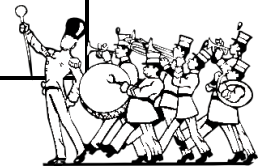

cellar

flaw

floor

banned

band

1. The strong wind blew leaves all through the yard.
2. "You will not be allowed in if you are being too noisy," said Mum.
3. The audience waited excitedly for the band to appear on stage.
4. The latest book by the author was sure to be a best seller.
5. The grey clouds soon covered the blue sky.
6. Janet was asked by her mother to sweep the floor.
7. Will walked down the stairs into the cellar.
8. To help save the environment, plastic bags were banned.
9. The teacher read aloud to the class.
10. Tilly returned the skirt to the store because of a flaw in the stitching.

