

At the Beach

I see a clear blue sky and crystal clear water,
The golden sand that seems to stretch forever.

I hear the roar of the waves, crash!
Splash! The children play happily.

I smell the scent of the sunscreen on my skin,
The salt that is carried by gentle breeze.

I taste the saltwater splashing in my mouth.
Sand, seaweed, sunscreen yuck!

I feel the warmth of the smiling sun.
The cool water the splashes on my body.
