Playground

"Let's go on the swings first," said Kelly and started running towards them. Tim and Sally ran after her. Tim was too slow and missed out on a swing. "What should I go on?" he said as he looked around the playground. There was a long blue slide next to the swings. At the back of the playground, underneath the shadow of the large tree, were the monkey bars. Tim ran over to them. "Look at me, Mum!" he called out as he swung from one bar to the next.
