

Writing Stimulus Set 1

James slammed the door shut just as a giant wave crashed against the side of the lighthouse. He had seen many storms during his time as a lighthouse keeper, but he had never seen one quite this bad.

The local Go kart Championship was less than two weeks away. Finn had finally gathered all the materials he needed and was ready to build go kart that couldn't be beaten.

When Pat set off in the boat that morning, he was hoping to catch some big fish, but he didn't expect to catch something quite so big...

Bailey was finally old enough to go on the Train of Horrors ride. Little did he know, the horrors were about to turn real!
