

Ice Cream

"I scream, you scream, we all scream for ice cream!"

May and Jay are so happy. Dad is taking them for ice cream.

"I like choc top best," says May.

"I like rainbow ice cream best," says Jay.

Dad, May and Jay are going to the ice cream shop.

"You have helped Mum and me with the work. Now you can have a treat," Dad says.

Yum! The ice creams all look so good.

What will May and Jay pick? What will Dad pick?

"That one with choc chips looks good," says May.

"So does the green mint," says Jay.

"I like vanilla," says Dad.

"Oh no!" shout the children. "Vanilla is too boring, Dad!"

"Ah," says Dad. "Not when I put choc topping, nuts, sprinkles and a wafer on top!"

"Ha, ha, ha!" they all laugh.

Soon they each have an ice cream.

May has two scoops of ice cream, one blueberry and chocolate with choc chips. Her ice cream is in a crisp cone.

Jay has two scoops of ice cream, one strawberry and one green mint with a cherry on top. His ice cream is in a crisp cone.

Dad's ice cream is in a big dish. It is a scoop of vanilla ice cream with choc topping, nuts, sprinkles and a wafer on top.

May and Jay run over to Dad. Oops! May trips. Her two scoops of ice cream go up into the air – and land in Dad's ice cream dish!

At the same time, Jay runs over, too and trips over May. Oops!" His two scoops of ice cream land in Dad's dish too!

"Looks like my ice cream is the best," Dad laughs. "We will share it," says Dad.

And they do.
